

WEEKLY

update

November 13-17

This week is a busy week! We have the field trip, the multiplication math test, free dress day, and our first BIG writing assignment.

Our field trip is this Tuesday. We will depart St. Mary around 9:45 and will return around 2:15. We will be at the MSU planetarium and Dairy Store. If you are attending, but not a bus chaperone, please make sure you are at the MSU planetarium by 10:30!

WHAT WE ARE LEARNING

Our essential question in reading this week is "How do people figure things out?". We will be reading poetry and focusing on rhyme and alliteration through limerick and free verse poetry. We are also writing our first 5 paragraph expository essay. Students will write about what they are thankful for and explain why.

Week two of multiplication is here! We will be making tables and combinations this week to prepare for our understanding multiplication test on Friday.

Back to Social Studies we are! This week, we will be beginning our longest unit of the year: Michigan History. This is such a fun unit where we really explore the history of our state and how we came to be! We will hang out in this unit through January!

Unit 2 in Religion begins this week. We will also study our virtue of docility this week and develop ways we can be part of our own
