

WEEKLY

October 9-13

update

What a wonderful short week we had!

This week we worked really hard on understanding our new virtue of the month: kindness. Something I have really been trying to explain to the class is that kindness to yourself matters just as much as your kindness to others.

They have already been working so hard on showing kindness, I am so proud of them!

Have a fantastic week ahead!

WHAT WE ARE LEARNING

We have our final NWEA in reading this Tuesday morning. Our essential question in reading this week is "How do landmarks help us understand our country's story?". We will practice asking and answering questions, main idea, and key details while reading argumentative text. This will give us many ideas for our future persuasive essays!

This week we are working on adding four digit numbers and checking answers for reasonableness (which is a concept we review with each unit). Our chapter two test is this Thursday!

Last week we studied the geography and ecosystems of Michigan. This week, we will focus in closer on the two regions of Michigan: the Lake Plains and the Superior Upland.

This week in Religion we will continue learning about how and why we show God reverence as well as how God loves all the people in the world. We will also take some time to study the virtue of kindness and our Saint of the month: Saint Veronica.
